

A note from the President of Midwest Security Products regarding our proactive measures against COVID-19

The health and safety of Midwest Security Products employees, customers and partners is our primary concern as we continue to monitor the coronavirus COVID-19. Midwest is building upon information from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), the World Health Organization (WHO) and local and national agencies to inform our decision-making.

In response to this information, Midwest Security Products has taken several steps to ensure business continuity and the continued health and safety of our employees:

- We have created work from home guidelines based on recommendations from local and national agencies. While we have not implemented work from home measures as of yet, we have taken steps to test our infrastructure and IT systems. In the event we must implement work from home procedures we will do everything to limit disruptions and maintain customer support and business continuity during this time.
- We have limited outside visitors to our facility. Additionally, all unnecessary business travel is postponed until further notice.
- Our manufacturing floors are operating with additional precautions including increased employee distancing and cleaning of facilities and equipment.

We will continue to monitor the situation closely and inform you of any further changes as necessary. If you have any questions, please contact us.

Sincerely,

Douglas Schoenrock
President, Midwest Security Products
